AMUSEMENT PIER IN WAIKIKI SURF

Committee Decides That Off the Outrigger Club Frontage Is Only Place

After visiting the various places along the beach at Waikiki where it might be possible to build the suggested "Amusement Pier," the special committee named by the promotion committee to go into the matter has decided that there is only one place for consideration, that being off the Moana and Outrigger Club frontage. Suggested sites at Kapiolani Park were investigated and turned down. It was decided that at the Public Baths was too far from the regular tourist center, while to build on the town side of the Cunha place would shut out the only uninterrupted view of the sea now to be obtained from the public road.

Chairman Kerr of the committee was delegated to see if the Territorial Hotel Company would grant a right-of-way across its Moana premises, Ewa of the hotel, if the pier plans could be worked out otherwise. There is a public right-of-way to the beach on the other side of the hotel, but to use that exclusively would be to necessitate the pier being shifted below the hotel also and the idea of the committee is to center it before the Outrigger Club premises if possible.

The committee has canvassed the advisability of such a pier from a promotion standpoint and has reached the opinion that it would be a decided asset. The members will now approach the proposition from the promoter's standpoint, to learn if such a thing is possible and if there are those ready to put their money into it as a business venture.
