CENTRAL Y BEATS PALAMA SEXTET

Pines Run Wild Over Surf-riders; Wagner Barred From A. A. U. Games

Pines beat Outrigger.
Central Y beat Palama.

In a sizzling hot game which kept the crowd yelling continually, the Central "Y" volleyball team squeezed out a victory from the strong Palama Settlement sextet last night in the feature attraction of a senior A. A. U. league game. The scores tell how the game went. They were 15-5, 8-15 and 15-12.

The Hawaiian Pines displayed too much class for the Outrigger surf-riders in the opening clash and won as they pleased, 15-10 and 15-8.

The Centralites performed without the services of one of their star performers, Charles Wagner, who was barred by the A. A. U. Wagner admitted he received money for officiating in Commercial games last year.

Star for the Central "Y" team were Bill Maket, Brede Karratti and Alec Karratti on offense and Charles Char and Noburu Murakami on defense and feeding.

Bill Bruhn and Tom Hugo were the best Palama players last night. The Pal feeders were off color.

In the first game Cheong Wong starred for the Pines. Singlehurst and "Buster" Crabbe came through with good work at times.

Next games will be played on Tuesday at the Central "Y" court. A. C. A. plays the Pines at 7 p. m and Nuuanu "Y" tackles the Fire Department in the nightcap.
