

Early February saw the OCC Volleyball Team invade Southern California for a four-day series of games with some of the Southland's top teams. Results were good for a road trip, always hard on the traveling team. Against Chart House, the present National Champions, OCC started hot, with a 15-8 victory, but finished on the cool side with four losses. Against the Santa Barbara YMCA, our men took two out of five, with scores of 16-14; 8-15; 15-10; 10-15, and 13-15. An injury put Charlie Jenkins out of play in the third game.

At Corona del Mar, our team played the best volleyball of the entire trip, sweeping a three-game series with the Balboa Bay Club by scores of 15-11; 22-20 (after an hour and fifteen minutes of play), and 15-11. In their wind-up series against the Sand and Sea Club, Outrigger got sweet revenge for last year's defeat by winning three out of five.

Members of the Club's traveling team included: Tony and Chris Crabb; John Haneberg; Charles Jenkins; Tom Madison; Steve Kiel; Buster Chapman; Tom Haine, and Coach Dennis Berg.

Back on the home grounds, the Club's "A" team took on the rugged Hickam team in two tournaments, late in February and early in March, losing in both. The team was without the services of Tom Haine, who had been borrowed from the Masters team for the California trip, but returned to that team here in Honolulu.

The Men's B division finished off their season in 5th place and the B Masters with a 7th place. Nuuanu YMCA was the winner of the B tournament and Central YMCA took the B Masters tournament.

The Junior Wahines have completed their series, finishing in third place in the Junior State Championships, a very good showing. One of Outrigger's players, Christy Wilson, was named all star hitter and Nancy Coonley was a runner up.
