

Nadine Kahanamoku had a wonderful trip to Australia, where she visited cousins in New South Wales on a cattle station. She reports she saw lots of kangaroos and koalas. While in Sydney she visited Manley Beach where the Harbord Diggers Club has engaged a sculptor to create a life-size bronze statue of Duke. The statue would be a landmark to show where surfboard riding originated in Australia. Duke brought surfing to Australia in the 1930s and it is now one of that country's most popular sports.
