

THE OUTRIGGER CLUB.

“Interest in the Outrigger Club should be kept up by Honolulu people,” said George Osborn yesterday. “You have no idea what interest is taken in that group of grass houses erected by the club between the Moana and Seaside hotels. I have no doubt but that every kodak carried by a tourist is directed at it. Every tourist has a desire to see a Hawaiian grass house and his wish can be gratified at close hand. If it were not for those houses, which are appropriately located near the cocoanut grove, tourists would have to travel to remote places in the islands to find another village of grass huts.”
