

Alexander Hume Ford is due to arrive in Hawaii some time in July, according to Burton Holmes. Holmes saw the man of Outrigger Club fame in the East just before he started for here. Ford was about to make a short trip to Bermuda.

Dr. J. Uchida left on the Korea last evening for Japan, whence he will proceed to Germany to attend the World's Medical Conference. A large number of local Japanese were on the wharf when the steamer sailed to bid him farewell. They loaded him with leis and, as the Korea backed out into the harbor, gave him a farewell chorus of banzais.

Burton Holmes and Wright Kramer, the "Travelogue Twins," as they are called, and Mr. Burton, uncle of Lecturer Holmes, spent a strenuous day in Honolulu yesterday. They arrived on the Korea and continued their voyage on the same vessel. R. K. Bonine showed them the sights in a big automobile during the morning, and the whole party rode the surf at Waikiki during the afternoon. Holmes says that Waikiki beach is the finest bathing place in the world. He and Kramer are on a pleasure jaunt around the world. They will cross Siberia.
