

OUTRIGGER CLUB IS DOING WELL

There was a meeting of the Outrigger Club held yesterday afternoon at which many members were present and the prosperous condition of the club was commented on and certain plans formulated for the future.

Temporary officers were elected until the next meeting and there is now a live bunch in charge. The club has been well looked after. The new Wahine division has been a magnificent success. A surprising number of charming girls get out in the surf every day and have learned to hoe out into the big surf, where they stand on their boards like the most adept male kamaainas.

The ladies' dressing rooms are finely fitted up and the caretaker has a big kettle whence he pours boiling water to make tea for the ladies after they come in from the water.

The grounds are in well-ordered shape and the caretaker seems to be the most courteous and painstaking of his kind. Suits are washed, dried and replaced in lockers and, were it not for those miserable board-burglars, there would not be a kick coming.

It is proposed to have a real dressing room for the mere men things and to organize an instruction hui, the members of which will take the malihini out on board or in canoe and show them how it is done.

The matter of the dressing room will require some subscription, but so many are taking an interest in surfing these days, that there will be little difficulty about this and the work will be started in the near future.

Many of the local military officers, especially those from Camp Very are keen surfers and some of the best riders wear a uniform when they come out from the dressing rooms.
