

tinkling little legs of his ought to bring him well to the front.

In the only race in which Charlie has appeared here, the regular Marathon distance at the league grounds, he kept going in wonderful style for sixteen miles. He had had no real training, and yet he kept up without stopping all the way and finished much stronger than most of the runners.

Those who watched the race will remember how big McDuffy kokuaed him and chased round the track with a bottle of ice water, from which he sprinkled reviving drops over the plucky Chinaman. In a ten-mile race Charlie should make a grand race.

As the race has been postponed for one week, the entries will not close until Wednesday, September 8, instead of September 1. There is no entrance fee, and those who wish to enter may do so by communicating with H. M. Ayres or leaving their entry at the Real Estate Exchange.

HAOLE KIDS GET MAIKAI CANOE

The Outrigger Club is going to have a good canoe to go in the Regatta with if it has to get together in mighty force and build one. They tried to get Doc Wall's old tooth-puller, the Black Horse. But the forceps kid was already promised and so the club started to hunt for something else.

Yesterday they found one out near Diamond Head and it was brought over for a trial. Rusty Brown was asked how the canoe was, but he merely looked wise and never said a word.

Inside information states that the canoe is fairly good but a trifle heavy. As far as that goes, the bunch in the Outrigger Club has handled it to the Hawaiian boys off Waikiki in the fag-end of a dugout and should be able to do something with this new acquisition.

The question arises why it is that there was no fine new canoe built with the eighty banonoes that were won at the last regatta. Hume Ford had it that they were going to send to Hawaii for a crackerjack. But nobody seems to have sent. Luckily there is money enough in the treasury to purchase anything that is within reason and it is hoped by all the live ones in the club that the new canoe will prove an able carryall for the good club paddlers.

The material at the Outrigger Club is great. All it needs is a hypodermic injection of something like a live noise and some enthusiasm to back it up. Fit, strong, deep-chested and expert the youngsters can paddle against any crew in the world if they have the incentive encouragement. Dusty Brown is making a very live noise and is doing good work. Aloha Rusty.

Mainland Sport Notes

Stanley Ketchel he will not make weight for Langford. No sir. He likes to hunt in the mountains of California and latest dope states that he was chasing a big bear. Willus prefers chasing something else and so left him. Ketchel will meet Langford probably on September 15 in New York. And echo answers "Probably."

We had the news that Frayne slipped it to Hyland on the night of Friday, August 20, but that dear, delightful A. P. man forgot to mention the word "Attell", which would have notified us that Monte Attell slipped it so hard to Percy Cove of Seattle that the latter had to be saved by the referee.

Ad Wolgast will fight Paeky McFarland in October. He is scheduled to meet Tommy Murphy in Pittsburg for six rounds tomorrow.

Twenty thousand people saw the two games between the Seals and Beavers at San Francisco on Sunday, August 22. The first game was a tie, 3 to 3, 12 innings. In the afternoon game the Seals slipped the Beavers off the rocks to the tune of 3 to 2. Almost as good games as we get at the Athletic park here, but not quite.
