

SIX PADDLERS

TRAINING HARD

The Outrigger Club boys have secured the use of Princee Cupid's six-paddle canoe, the "A" and hope to make good kahuna with it in the regatta races on Saturday.

The team has really been working hard for some time. The festive cigarette has been doused, the downy pillow is indented at early hours by youthful and athletic heads and there is team practise and training every day.

Rusty Brown is captain and will steer and he has selected about as good and adept a crew as one could find along the Waikiki shore at any time of the day. Harry Steiner, Willy Peterson, Edmond Melanphy, David Center and Zen Genoves, stroke.

Yesterday they practised in the harbor for the first time and Rusty found that he could steer a very straight course. They believe that the straight-away course will be a great advantage for them. It should be, judging by the last Waikiki regatta when the Outrigger crews took practically everything. It was noticed that the haole boys steered a much straighter course than even the older Hawaiian paddlers.

Doc Wall has a great crew for his White Horse. They are in fine shape and there will be one grand race when the six-paddlers get busy. It looks like a heartbreaking finish.
