

PUNAHOU FOOTBALL TEAM ENTERTAINED

Harry Steiner and some of his friends in the Outrigger Club were the hosts at a very pleasant little entertainment given to the Punahou football team, last Friday, at Waikiki.

Five of the largest canoes on the beach were unable to hold the whole bunch and so the overflow contented themselves with surfboards. Then there were some swimming races, in which some of the heroes of the gridiron showed that they were equally adept in the water.

After plenty of fun in the water there was chowder of the real old kind. When everybody had had enough to eat some of the boys showed what they could do in the entertaining line. Knutt Peterson did a few hula stunts and Farmer Andresen handed out a line of talk, imitating Hawaiian political speeches, that was a pippin.

Everybody had a thoroughly good time.
