

NATIVE SONS WILL SHOW OLD CUSTOMS

Eli Crawford's Club Plans To Do Stunts For Tourists

President Elias Crawford of the Kamehameha Aquatic Club of real Hawaiian native canoeists, is anxious to have his organization take part in the entertainment of the Clark cruisers on the Outrigger grounds next Sunday afternoon.

Crawford has the real old Hawaiian outfit for pounding poi and wants his husky boys to show the malihinis how the thing is done from start to finish; he hopes to have several sacks of poi baked on porous rocks, Hawaiian style, boiled and pounded, all before the wondering eyes of the Clark cruisers. It is also probable that the native sons of Kalihl will bring their canoes down Sunday to take the cruisers out to see the stunts in the surf.

Crawford promises that his canoes will obey the rules of the Outrigger Club as to limits, and as the Outrigger canoes will all be entered for the Clark cups, doubtless the visitors will be only too glad of any opportunity to get nearer the boys on the boards and watch their stunts at close range.
