

SURF MORE PROMISING.

The surf at Waikiki was more promising yesterday afternoon than it has been for a week past. There now seems a strong possibility of a presentable performance on the surf boards on Sunday afternoon. If there be a small surf the largest boards will be brought into requisition. Seven of the smaller canoes have been put in good order for coasting down the waves, so that the Clark cruisers will see something of the great Hawaiian sport no matter how small the waves may be.

The canoes of the Kamohameha Aquatic Association will arrive at the Outrigger Club grounds this morning and line up on the beach, ready for Sunday. The Hawaiian members of this organization will have plenty of taro on hand Sunday afternoon which they will prepare old Hawaiian style, baking it in the underground imu and preparing the poi before the eyes of the excursionists.
