

OUTRIGGER DOINGS

The surf at Waikiki is coming up to the regular summer standard and the Outrigger boys are out in large forces on their surfboards, to say nothing of moonlight canoeing parties. There is a boom on in the Outrigger, forty applications for membership are on file in the men's department and a large number for the Ladies' Auxiliary.

The improvements being made for the entertainment are creating a noticeable change at Waikiki, the big 80 by 40 foot lanai and dancing floor to be ready for the doings on the 10th, is nearing completion, the workmen are laying the floor, other workers are cutting pele grass up the valleys and the best thatchers left in the islands will soon begin work on the big waterproof roof. Dozens of big cocoanut logs are being hauled from every part of town for the columns of the lagoon lanai, the new canoe shed and the big hau tree lanai that will be the largest of its kind on the islands. Places are being laid out for the attractive booths, and the McRaes are preparing to arrange the entertainment program at the Seaside. At the Moana and the Outrigger lanai dancing will be the feature on Kamehameha eve. The procession of illuminated canoes will start from the Hau Tree villa, and the boys with their searchlight boards from the big surf. Lorin Andrews will have charge of the water sports and will appoint committees that know how to work and hustle.
