

FIFTY MAY ENTER

CLARK CUP RACES

Each Steerer to Be Tried in Three Different Canoes in Surfing Contests.

About fifty members of the Outrigger Club have already signified their intention of entering the Fourth of July regatta. There will be six paddle races for those of all ages and degrees of proficiency, and there will be the contests for the Clark cups in the big surf. The surfers are all agreed that the fairest method of discovering the best canoeist is to try each steerer in three different canoes before as many waves. G. H. Tuttle, Colonel Soper and Curtis Hustace have been asked to act as judges.

One of the crack Outrigger paddlers is also with the Royal company, and there is likely to be pilikia, for Watson Ballentyne is wanted in the six-paddle race for practised hands, and Watson wants to put in all the afternoon blacking his face for the minstrel show. Royal has offered to take his place in the canoe, but the boys want Watson, and so does Royal.

Charles Royal has organized his company for the Fourth at the Outrigger Club. There will be a score of good people in the cast, to say nothing of those in the cakewalk. The cakewalkers are invited to meet Mr. Royal and Miss Elliott at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel Tuesday afternoon at four-thirty o'clock, to be taught the steps. There is room for several more couples, Royal said yesterday.
