

OUTRIGGER CLUB WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEETING THIS MONTH

OUTRIGGER CLUBHOUSE.

New Directors to Be Elected and Club to Incorporate---New Bylaws Framed---Determined Stand for Amateurism.

The annual election of officers of the Outrigger Club will take place toward the end of the month and, if the talk of the members amounts to much, there will be a clean sweep into office of those who most frequent the Outrigger grounds, and take an active interest in the affairs of the club.

New President.

Dr. Doremus Seudder, who is at least a weekly visitor, and who introduces his friends to the sport of surfing on every occasion, is spoken of as the next Outrigger president. Sanford B. Dole, the present head of the club, is leaving for an extended trip abroad.

Club to Incorporate.

The most important matter that will come up at the annual meeting will be the question of incorporating the club. In any event Messrs. J. R. Galt and J. P. Cooke will remain as trustees of the property, and will be elected to the board of directors. They have proved themselves the best of friends to the club and its objects from the inception.

Others who frequent the club and take an interest in its affairs and who are spoken of for office are Guy H. Tuttle, A. M. Nowell, E. M. Ehrhorn, Irwin Spalding, Dr. Victor Clark, and Dr. A. C. Wall.

Among the younger men spoken of for the house committee are I. D. Canfield, D. L. Peterson, Amos T. Woodruff, A. C. O. Linnemann, G. H. Tuttle and Charles Crane.

The new bylaws of the Outrigger Club will come up for adoption at the annual meeting. Hitherto the meetings of the club have been held down town and it is hoped by many of the members that the coming meeting will be held on a Saturday at midday in one of the clubs where the members may lunch and discuss their affairs at the same time.

Objects of Club.

The objects of the club are set forth in the charter for incorporation, as follows: "For the purpose of promoting outdoor sports and social recreation along shore, and especially in the management of canoes and surfboards, and the development of the art of swimming."

President Sanford B. Dole and Vice President Philip L. Weaver were most active in the work of drawing up the charter and bylaws, but had the active assistance of the trustees and directors. It is encouraging to note the strong stand taken in favor of pure amateur sports all along the line.

Some of the directors have paid out of their own pockets for work done for the club, because they were too busy to attend to the matters personally. Those who have time to give to club work are now expected to step forward and relieve those who have been carrying the burdens.
