

PRINCE CUPID WITH HUI NALU

The Hui Nalu is certainly getting popular, as more applications for membership are coming in every week since the club made such a wonderful showing in the aquatic meet held in the harbor some time ago.

The swimmers who do not belong to the club believe that if they enter they will do great stunts when the next races come off.

At a meeting held at the home of Don Lemon last night, Prince Jonah Kuhio Kalaniana'ole was elected an honorary member of the Hui Nalu.

Manager Thiele of the Moana Hotel was also elected to honorary membership. He has taken great interest in the boys.

There were eighteen candidates seeking admission to the club and all were elected regular members, which brings the total membership up to fifty, which is going some.

The Outrigger boys will have a different story to tell after the aquatic sports in future, as their rivals are the best in the Islands in aquatic events.

Deputy United States District Attorney "Bill" Rawlins, who is also a member of the club, is going to make a trip across the continent soon, and while in the East he will order fifty bathing suits from Spalding's, with the Hui Nalu monogram on the front.

The club will now turn out crews for regular training for the regatta which will be held next month.
