

DELEGATE TO CONGRESS IS AN HONORARY "WAVE" AS A MEMBER OF THE HUI NALU

Prince Jonah Kuhio Kalaniana'ole is now an honorary "wave," having been elected to honorary membership in the Hui Nalu last night by acclamation at its meeting at the home of Don Lemon, where this star aquatic association boosted itself into a formidable rival to the Outrigger Club and others.

There are now two honorary members, the other being Manager Thiele of the Moana Hotel, who has taken an interest in the boys and who has been of the two selected by the crack swimmers for the honor. Eighteen regular members were elected, which brings the total membership up to fifty.

General business was talked over and some important matters taken up. Deputy United States District Attorney Rawlins, who is also a member of the Hui Nalu, and who, in amphibian circles, becomes just plain "Bill" Rawlins, is going East soon and has been commissioned to order fifty bathing suits from Spaldings with the Hui Nalu's monogram blazoned on the front, and regular drilling and training will now commence to make this little circle world beaters. Duke Kahanamoku's swimming victory has been one moving cause to revive the aquatic laurels of ancient Hawaii.
