
BIG FESTIVAL OF

HAWAIIAN MUSIC

If A. H. Ford can carry out an idea that he has got in mind, he will be able to offer for the delectation of a Honolulu audience—a musical treat. He will, he confidently says, get an orchestra of fifty performers, who will play and sing Hawaiian songs, and the proceeds will go to the Outrigger Club.

The presentation of such a performance, of course, will be an event. As far as is known this will be the greatest number of Hawaiian musical performers ever got together at any one time in recent years, and should Mr. Ford be able to arrange such a concert, the demand for seats should be big. Already Ernest Kaai has been approached on the matter, but whether he will be able to arrange such a concert has not been settled. The date has not yet been fixed.
