

Ted Melanphy is getting busy with his youngsters for the big regatta at the Outrigger Club next Saturday afternoon. He will have to go some to excel the last regatta of the youngsters over a year ago when there were a dozen canoes entered in a single race and over seventy individual entries, but then Melanphy is the club captain and can paddle some himself.

Marston Campbell was one of the visitors at the club yesterday and took a keen interest in the entries. He offered to be one of ten to put up ten dollars to raise a fund to put up several cups for the boys to race for, the boys to keep the cups they win. It will be interesting to note who the other nine will be to come forward and show their interest in the sport end of the Outrigger Club.

The grounds are being gotten in shape for the big events next Saturday. The hau trees are being jacked up so that the chowder for a thousand may be enjoyed there, the ladies having charge of the chowder. Hundreds of colored electric lights will illumine the grounds and there will be band and string music for the dancers in the big lagoon lanai which is now being repaired and strengthened for the great occasion.

A striking event of the evening will be the throwing on the screen on the club grounds of the motion pictures taken by Pathe Freres of the Outrigger events and surfriding. These pictures have never been shown and this will be possibly the only occasion when they will be seen in Honolulu as they were sent from Paris to a member of the club and must be returned.

The sports at the Outrigger will begin at two o'clock next Saturday and will continue with the other entertainments until midnight. Over a thousand tickets have already been sold, these tickets are good for the regatta, the dance, chowder and entertainment and cost a dollar at the public service rooms.
