

OUTRIGGER CLUB SCORES SUCCESS

A program of aquatic sports that rivaled in keen interest and excitement of Regatta Day itself was pulled off by the Outrigger Club off the beach in front of its Waikiki quarters Saturday. Following the paddling and surfing competitions came a big chowder party in the club pavilion, and a good day was fittingly closed with a jolly dance.

The Outrigger Club is planning some extensive building improvements, and Saturday's entertainment was a pay affair, the proceeds of which went into the building fund. More than 500 people took advantage of the chance to spend a pleasant evening and get a good dinner at the same time, and a satisfactory sum was netted.

Besides many prominent civilians, the service was well represented. General M. M. Macomb, department commander, was among the guests.
