

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

---

—R. R. BODE, organist and choir-master, St. Andrew's Cathedral: We want more men for St. Andrew's choir. If you hear of any, let me know. We have a fine lot of Advent and Christmas music which requires a good number of male voices to produce the effect the composers intended.

---

—E. M. EHRHORN, chairman house committee, Outrigger Canoe Club: The tides seem to be piling sand around our diving platform. The water there is now only four and five feet deep where it used to be seven, and eight. We have had to post signs warning bathers against diving from the upper stage of the platform owing to the shallowness of the water.

---

—COL. C. J. McCARTHY: From my desk on Saturday I was able to see the school teachers as they left the pay window with their September checks. I don't claim to be an expert at reading facial expressions, but if you'd ask me what ones were receiving their first pay I could pick them every time. They left the office with a smile that gladdened the whole landscape.

---

The 'Chautauqua Circle will meet tomorrow morning in the parlor of the Central Union church to plan work for the coming year. All will be welcome who wish to join in the reading of the four appointed books.