

SOLDIER DIVER IS BADLY HURT OFF OUTRIGGER CLUB

Another accident occurred yesterday at the Outrigger club diving platform, where George H. Chamberlain of Rockford, Illinois, was killed January 14. Sgt. G. J. Cleverley, Battalion B, Ninth Field Artillery, who has been living in town while on furlough, cut his head severely, jammed his teeth into his gum and sprained his neck in diving.

Sgt. James Maner, Company M, Thirty-second Infantry was watching Sergeant Cleverley dive, being immediately behind him, and, upon seeing Sergeant Cleverley rise bleeding, rescued him and held him above water until a surfboard was taken to the place.

Sergeant Cleverley was given medical attention at Port De Russy. The water at the diving platform is notoriously shallow.
