

GAY FLOATS WILL SHOW HISTORY OF PACIFIC PEOPLES

Work of Mounting Productions on Wheels Begins; 101 Are Expected to Be in Line When
Pan-Pacific Pageant Starts
Monday

Under the direction of Alexander Hume Ford work was started this morning of putting a number of the floats of the Pan-Pacific pageant on the big drays on which they are to be transported along the streets of Honolulu next Monday afternoon, beginning at 3 p. m., when the first big spectacle of the Mid-Pacific Carnival is started.

Just preceding the start of the Pan-Pacific pageant, a realistic representation of an old-time hold-up of a Wells Fargo stage by Indians will be staged near Palace square. This bit of "The Old West That Was" is to be the first event of the Carnival.

As now planned there will be 101 floats in the Pan-Pacific parade, 50 of them showing scenes and incidents of Hawaiian history and customs, and the balance traits of character and manners of other people who live in lands touched by the waters of the Pacific ocean. The floats are being constructed at the Palace square and on some vacant land near Fort Armstrong on the waterfront.

Almost every club and business firm in Honolulu will be represented in the parade, through floats which they have authorized Ford to enter. The list of entrants and the titles of the floats, subject to necessary
