

---

The model of the proposed drinking fountain as a memorial to Jack London, designed by Gordon Usborne, will be seen next Saturday evening at the Hawaiian artists' exhibit of paintings in the Pan-Pacific building, Bishop square. When the Outrigger club meets July 24 that organization will be asked to set aside for the fountain a small piece of land on the Outrigger grounds where London wrote some of his first stories.