

DAVID KAHANAMOKU

LIFE-GUARD AT BEACH

The Outrigger Club has again come to the assistance of those who are weak swimmers and who have difficulty in keeping near the rope that is their main stand-by when in the water, especially on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, when there is a large crowd of persons who delight in standing on the rope and keeping it under water where the ladies and children cannot hold onto it.

David Kahanamoku, an excellent swimmer and almost as well known on the beach as is his brother, Duke, has been engaged by the Outrigger to act as a life guard and to see that no lady is insulted when in swimming.

Besides being a life guard, David will teach the women and children members of the Club how to swim, and will look after all children whose mothers are anxious about them while in the water.

David began his new work yesterday afternoon and his first move was to remove a large piece of coral which was near the shore line endangering people diving from the beach. When taken out of the water it took seven or eight men to roll it on the beach.

Since President Campbell has started the ball a-rolling in getting the coral out of the swimming pool, several members of the club have become enthusiastic and one member has gone so far as to invent a "snare" to catch the coral which is loose on the sea bottom. When the trap is full the coral is dumped upon a surf board and landed upon the beach.

When Mr. Bidwell, the inventor of the trap, came upon the beach with an object that looked peculiarly like a large rat trap, it caused a bit of guessing among the inquisitive beach-goers troit 5, Boston 0.

At Washington—Washington 3, Chicago 2.

At Philadelphia—Philadelphia 8, St. Louis 2; St. Louis 4, Philadelphia 1.

HAWAII AND HEALANI

AT MOILIILI TODAY

Yesterday's Victors of Pacific League Will Perform Again

There will be but one game of ball at Moiliili Field this afternoon, the Hawaiis and Healani's meeting at one-thirty.

The Hawaiis played a game yesterday against the Chinese, winning out 5 to 3 in five innings. Working two days, Manager Kalua says, is nothing, and with from six to nine pitchers to fall on he should worry.

John Keehu, better known as John Black, is the best bet to do mound duty for the Hawaiis. He has been pitching great ball for the Alerts lately. Hussey will receive.

The Healani's, in line with the other teams, have improved greatly. This team was leading in batting during the first series, but failed to do anything in the fielding line. At the present time the defensive work of the nine is fairly strong. Kuehn, Hollinger and Bushnell may twirl, and the management can also back on Simon to do a little slab work. Simon was formerly of the Hawaiis. Haneberg will probably catch.

and when the trap was let into the water and dragged along many wondered if the man was fishing for lobsters or pearls, but the question was solved when the "snare" was brought up full of coral. The contraption is made of strong wire, works simply and is a success.