

---

An attempt was made to surf with the pontoon fishes imported by the Moana hotel by members of the Outrigger Club. They found that the newly designed float would not take the place of the old-time board.

---

A new raft is being built at the Outrigger Club to place still further out than the latest float put out near the diving stand. It will be for the still more inexperienced swimmers, say members of the club.

---