

OUTRIGGER WOMEN FETE SOLDIERS

Brilliant Hallowe'en Celebration
Also Held At St. Andrew's Cathedral

Surrounded by a blage of dazzling lights of many colors, more than two hundred people danced and sang and otherwise joined in the celebrations of Hellowe'en night at the Outrigger Club last evening. The gathering, which included a fair sprinkling of uniformed men, were guests of the ladies' auxiliary of the club.

The spacious grounds situated on the Waikiki beach were decorated with a myriad of colorings and together with a thousand lanterns, fashioned to represent the supernatural spirits, presented a picturesque sight. Long tables were set on the lawns upon which were placed delicious refreshments and ices.

While dancing commanded the attention of the majority of those present, quite a number worked up several unique stunts.

In addition to supplying the necessary dance music, Dude Miller's orchestra rendered a number of pleasing items, chiefly patriotic songs.

While few took advantage of the opportunity to come in Hallowe'en costumes, there was no scarcity of pretty girls and pretty evening gowns. In fact, the feature of the night's entertainment was the great number of gorgeous dresses worn.
