

Outriggerites Beat Signal Corps In Volleyball Battle

"Mouse Smith Out-leaps Hilo's Famous Frogs—Incidents and Accidents Tersely Told

To the manor born, the Outrigger Canoe Club won yesterday afternoon's volleyball match from the Signal Corps on the beach court at Waikiki, taking three of the five games played. There scores were 15-13, 15-13, 13-15, 7-15 and 15-3.

As the scores will indicate to the initiated in this seemingly tame but otherwise strenuous sport, the match was a warm one from alpha to omega, the Greek of it being the only language used in this form of the net game on the beach at Waikiki.

Before anything else should be said the lineup of the rival teams must be given:

Outrigger—"Dad" Center (captain), Kenneth Decker, Johnson, "Mouse" Smith, Dease, Nottage (Percy), Keoni Morse and Major Britton.

Signal Corps—Lambert Opio (captain), Singlehurst, Bowers, Ross, Shephard, and Gilbert M. Canario.

Had Real Officials

The officials and other things were: Jim Hart, umpire, and he was the best ever; Edmund Peterson, score keeper; Porter and Sweeney, linesmen; Edric Cooke, backstop and retriever, and "Young" Cooke, water-boy, all of whom performed like major leaguers, for they are perfect veterans.

In the firmament the stars were Ross and Lambert for the Signal Corps, and Decker and Morse for the beach inhabitants. Morse is young, but real good. In fact, all were in fine fettle, especially Major Britton, who batted 1.000 percent and fielded .300, which is perfect in volleyball.

Swell Bathing Suits

The rooting was great. The Signal Corps rooters rooted for the Signal Corps, of course, and the Outrigger rooters, strange to say, rooted for the Signal Corps, also. There were many beautiful bathing costumes in the flat sand bleachers and they were the cause of many lost points, now by one side of the net and again by the other side of the proposition.

"Mouse" Smith, otherwise known as Werner and only to his intimates as "Freckles", was the acrobat. He had the best Hilo frogs out-leaped. There was only one accident in the match and this was when Bowers damaged the courts with his trench-digging No. 8 pedal ambulators.

Yesterday's match settled the Signal Corps aspirants for honors. Now the Outriggers are out for fresh victims and they will gladly take on Johnny Martin's coral-mud diggers from Kakaako.
