

THEY PLAYED, BUT CROWD KEPT AWAY

Outrigger Basketballers Play Rings Around Fort Shafter Pill Rolling Team

OAHU-SERVICE ATHLETIC

LEAGUE BASKETBALL

	P.	W.	L.	Pct.
Marines	2	2	0	1.000
Signal Corps	2	2	0	1.000
Outriggers	3	2	1	.667
Coast Defense	2	1	1	.500
College of Hawaii	2	1	1	.500
Department Hospital	2	0	2	.000
First Hawaiian	3	0	3	.000

Yesterday's Results

Signal Corps 28, All-Stars 17 (exhibition).

Outriggers 52, Department Hospital 7 (regular).

Again, yesterday afternoon, the exhibition basketball game was by far the better and most exciting of the double-header staged by the Oahu-Service Athletic League on the Moiliili court. In the exhibition contest the Signal Corps defeated the All-Stars, who played in place of the Argonauts, 28-17, while in the regular game the Outrigger Canoe Club quintet won from the Department Hospital, 52-7.

And again, yesterday afternoon, the crowd present to witness the matches was quite negligible as far as numbers went. Somehow, Honolulu fans seem to fight shy of attending basketball games. The fact that they are losing a good deal of enjoyment and entertainment is another story, but it is a pity that the boys who are putting themselves out to stage games for the benefit of the public should play to practically "empty houses."

Gilbert Canario either had an off-day or he was resting for the time when the Signal Corps and Marines come together, on which occasion the two leaders, who are now tied at the top of the club standing, will have to settle which shall remain in the lead. At that, Canario was the point-getter for the Signal Corps in the exhibition game with the All-Stars.

Made Wigwaggers Play

The All-Stars, by the way, put up a mighty interesting argument and had the Wigwaggers working over-time to stave off defeat, the All-Stars were midgets in comparison with the Signal Corps players, but they were here, there and everywhere in the game. Judd was the particularly bright star of the All-Star five, although his colleagues were not at all backward when it came to forcing the big fellows to play hard to win.

The lineup:

Signal Corps—Clinton, lf.; Dwyer, rf.; Canario, center; McCluskey, rg.; Rameseyer, lg. "Two-bits" Tybuec played for Rameseyer in the second half.

All-Stars—Ah Chew, lf.; Judd, rf.; McGuire, c.; Goetas, rg., and Morgan, lg.

Baskets from field—Signal Corps: Canario, 6; Clinton, 4; McCluskey, 2; Dwyer, 1; Rameseyer, 1. All-Stars: Judd, 5; Ah Chew, 1; Goetas, 1; Morgan, 1.

Baskets from foul—Judd, 1. Baskets from foul missed—Canario, 1; Judd, 3; Goetas, 1.

Officials—Albert Decker, referee; Louis F. Stephens, time-keeper; Rudolph J. Smythe, scorer.

It Was Mostly Percy

The only thing of interest in the second game, the regulation affair between the Outriggerites and the Department Hospital, was the one-sidedness of the contest. And then there was one great feature—the playing of Percy Nottage, on whom the eyes of all, fair and stern sexes, were centered. Percy was, really, a marvel, caging 12 baskets from field and one from foul for 25 of the 52 points his team made.

Outrigger Canoe Club—Johnson, 1; Auerbach and Nottage, forwards; Decker and Harvey guards. Hardman played for Johnson in the second half, Fritschi for Auerbach and Williams (C.C.) for Harvey in the final quarter.

Department Hospital—Putnam, first half, and Cullen, second half, rg.; Dodge, lg.; Baumeister, c.; Satgbar, rf.; and Watson, lf.

Summary:

Baskets from field: Outrigger—Nottage, 12; Auerbach, 6; Decker, 5; Fritschi, 2. Hospital—Baumeister, 1; Stagbar, 1.

Baskets from foul: Outrigger—Nottage, 1; Decker, 1. Hospital—Watson, 2; Stagbar, 1. Baskets from foul misses—Nottage, 2; Auerbach, 1; Fritschi, 1; Decker, 1; Stagbar, 2; Watson, 1.

Officials—McCluskey, referee; Ernie Sullivan, timekeeper, and Rudolph J. Smythe, scorer.