

FOOTBALL TEAMS TO MEET MONDAY

The major football teams of Oahu will get together Monday night in the Pan-Pacific club, with the idea of discussing the formation of a Honolulu football league.

At present the outlook is not very bright for any real classy football. The teams in the city appear to be fighting each other for players and the army organizations appear to be unable to get up anything in the class of the civilian teams.

The teams to be represented at the meeting Monday night will be the Outrigger Canoe club team, the Town team, College of Hawaii, Luke Field and the Schofield team. An effort will be made to come to some agreement on a working schedule that will bring together the two best teams for a Christmas Day game.

The Outrigger Canoe club team had a workout against the Punahou squad yesterday and in a measure received a distinct surprise. The Punahou lads played a grand game of football and scored on the surf-riders via the forward pass route.
