

OUTRIGGER GRID MEN FEAR NAUGHT

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.)

As a result of over a week's hard training the Outrigger club showed a wonderful improvement both on the defense and offense in Wednesday's scrimmage against the Puns. They are confident of victory tomorrow when they stack up against the College of Hawaii at Alexander field at 2:30 p. m.

The fast Buff and Blue eleven were unable to penetrate the stonewall line that confronted them. Play after play was executed by the students but the veterans of many a hard contest met the attacking forces as of old, and the result was that the youngsters were repulsed without gaining any territory through the Outrigger line. Being unable to advance the ball to any great distance with their skin tackles, end runs and other line bucks, the Puns resorted to forward passes, two of which worked successfully and netted them first down on both occasions. Nevertheless the youngsters put up a great game against the more heavy and experienced Waikiki organization.

The Outrigger backfield consisting of McKinney, Hart, Hollinger, Cockett, Canario and Stickney, worked to perfection in yesterday's scrim. On every occasion that the above mentioned men were called upon to execute a certain play, they hit the line to such an extent that resulted in 5, 10 and 15 yard gains. Coach Inman gave his crew a thorough workout yesterday afternoon together with some scrimmage and today rested up in anticipation of the game Saturday with the College of Hawaii.

This is the first season that the Outrigger club has been represented on the gridiron and from the enthusiasm that has gripped both old and young members of the beach club, the team will be ably supported on the field when it comes to cheering, etc.
