

FOOTBALL REPLACES NATIONAL PASTIME

King Football usurped the throne of King Baseball late yesterday afternoon. Hence there will be no ball game at Moiliili field Sunday between the Chinese and army team. "Military" reasons are given for the cancellation of the scheduled battle.

Instead of baseball there will be a game between the Outrigger Canoe club and the navy team. The Outriggers are minus one of the best men they had last year in the person of Gilbert Canario, whose absence from the gridiron is reported to be due to the orders from Dan Cupid. Canario made the All-Hawaii eleven last year.

Navy is reported to have improved remarkably since their last game with Palama. At that time the Pearl Harbor Athletic club team had not been worked into shape by actual contact with an enemy team, and the positions were not definitely assigned. Since the defeat administered by Palama the sailor team has been shifted around in many places and the weak spots have been bolstered up with the result that a hard plunging and fast team is to represent the club.
