

SCHEME STARTED TO POPULARIZE SOCCER

In an endeavor to popularize soccer and bring it to the attention of fans who would not otherwise see the game, the Honolulu Soccer association will try to secure permission from the Palama and Outrigger football teams to play an exhibition soccer game before the American football game at Moiliili field on the afternoon of December 19.

The Big Four league game that day is between Palama and Outrigger and starts at 3 o'clock. The soccer men propose to start at 2 o'clock and play two 20-minute periods, thus providing an added attraction for the American football game and at the same time giving the fans something to see of soccer while waiting for the second game to commence.

Teams uncertain

This was decided at a meeting of the Honolulu Soccer association Saturday night. The army team for the league is still uncertain, but if it enters, each of the Honolulu teams will play one game at Schofield. Palama, which wants to enter, had no representative at the Saturday night meeting and is therefore still uncertain. The season will open on January 8.

Another meeting of the league will be held next Saturday night, when the schedule for the season will be drafted.
