

BATHERS SPORT IN HEAVY SURF

Tourists First to Learn That Ban Is Taken From Waikiki.

The information that bathing was to be allowed at Waikiki yesterday did not circulate around the city generally enough for there to be a large crowd at the famous beach during the day, but there was a fair sized crowd in the surf during the afternoon composed for the most part of the guests of the different hotels.

Most enjoyed themselves riding the rollers which were heavy during the afternoon with the incoming tide so that it was possible to come in to the dry beach on a board or canoe.

Nearly all the bathers were in front of the Moana as the Outrigger club members were conspicuous by their absence and the bathers at the Seaside and Waikiki Inn were few in numbers.

The prohibition of bathing at the beach was taken off in full although the patrol by the launch of the board of health was still kept outside the reef.

Inside the harbor there was no bathing yesterday. From the boat-houses the members telephoned to the board of health about the matter but that body absolutely refused any bathing inside the harbor lines during the day.

Now that the bathing can be indulged in again at Waikiki the hotel guests will be in a better frame of mind, although those who are devotees of the tennis game have kept busy on the courts at the Moana and Seaside hotels without any trouble, and several exciting matches have been pulled off.
