

Many Teams to Enter Race on February 22

Six Mile Relay Event Promises to Be Interesting; 25th Will Have Two Teams in Run

Captain Carr of the 25th Infantry has announced that he will have two teams in the six mile relay which will be held on February 22. The Outrigger Club may have a team in the race, and the 1st Infantry, 32nd Infantry, 4th Cavalry and Training Camp are also expected to have teams entered.

George Murakami has a number of good runners in the Asahis, and may decide to enter six men in this race. If his men go in they ought to have a good chance to make a showing. Punahou, Mills and Kam may decide to enter a team, which would naturally lend a lot of interest to the event.

Gold Medals

The committee has announced that gold medals will be presented to the members of the winning team, and cups will be presented to the first two teams. Wade, Benefield, Chun Lee Puck and three other runners may be seen in the race also. Joe Stickney will have a strong team in the field for the Pan-Pacific and should have an excellent chance to bring home the bacon, although the 25th Infantry is supposed to have some good runners.

The race will be held at 2 o'clock Washington's Birthday, starting from the Capitol grounds and running back and forth over a one mile course. This will give the spectators an excellent chance to see the runners at the end of the relays. It should take something over half an hour to run the race.
