

DUKE SAILS ON NEXT BOAT FOR MAINLAND

Will Compete In One-Hundred-Yard Championship

Duke P. Kahanamoku is leaving on the next boat for the mainland to compete in the 100-yard national championship at Neptune Beach which is to be held on Sunday, April 28.

This event is attracting wide attention throughout the country. A classy field of swimmers are entered and it will be a gruelling race when they face the starter. Unless Duke takes a notion to break his present record of :53 flat made in Honolulu, there is little danger of it being lowered.

Perry McGillivray of the Illinois Athletic Club is a favorite on the mainland and is expected to give Duke the battle of his life. McGillivray is no stranger to Hawaii, having participated at the naval slip a few years back.

It is to be regretted that Clarence Lane, second only to the champion in the sprints; A. V. Kaehu, who has been cutting quite a slash in local swimming circles; Stubby Kruger, holder of a world's record in a backstroke event, and John Kelii who makes nothing of going in half a dozen races on the same day, are not to accompany Duke.

Were such a team to represent Hawaii, the mainland would see some swimming and with Duke, Lane, Kaehu or Stubby, and Kelii making up a relay team, the chances would be, but what's the use—Honolulu is sending but Duke.
