

Male Of Species Is More Shocking Than Female, Fern Finds

Nothing wrong with the women's bathing suits at Waikiki as far as Mayor Joseph J. Fern can see and if there is any protest against indecent bathing suits being worn it should be made against the men in his opinion.

His honor paid a visit to Waikiki beach last Saturday afternoon and spent several hours giving the bathing suit question a close investigation.

"Perhaps it was a little late in the afternoon but though I made every effort to see a bathing suit on a lady that could be in any way termed indecent or scant I did not see a single one," declared the mayor.

"There were a great many one piece bathing suits worn by ladies but none of them were worn immodestly or in such a manner as to attract attention in any way.

"If the ladies of the Outrigger Club really want to stop the wearing of indecent bathing suits they should go after the men. Some of the men were wearing silk skin-tight suits that were so brief that I cannot understand how they ever got into them without splitting the suits to pieces.

"More than that, the skirts on some of the men's bathing suits did not come below the hips. If any indecent bathing suits are being worn at Waikiki beach, it isn't the ladies who are wearing them but the men."
