

MOCK MODESTY.

The tempest in the Outrigger Canoe Club's teapot has subsided thanks largely to the sensible stand taken by the male members of the organization. "Be it resolved," said they as a meeting Friday night. "by the Outrigger Canoe Club, that it is not officially connected with the Women's Auxillary.."

After which slap on the wrist the trouble making snobs of the Auxillary with their mock modest yawping ought to come to a realization of the position they really occupy in the community. It is a pity that the resolution of Oswald Mayal as it originally was written was softened by the pacifists of the club. Straight talk is much to be desired these days, and we get all too little of it in Hawaii, where the ancient method of "you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours," still prevails.
