

REGATTA DAY MAY BE OBSERVED THIS YEAR

President Rosa of Myrtle Boat Club Has Some Hopes

An honest-to-goodness effort is being made so that Regatta Day this year, which falls on Saturday, September 21, will not go unremembered.

William L. Rosa, president of the Myrtle Boat Club, has sent out an S. O. S. call for Myrtle and other boat and yacht club men in the city to gather at nine o'clock this morning and tomorrow morning at the Myrtle Boat House, when plans will be made to observe the annual date in some form.

In connection with the Outrigger Canoe Club, Healani Boat Club and the Honolulu Boat Club, the Myrtles hope it will be possible to pull off some kind of races on September 21 in the local harbor, and steps are being taken to approach the commandant at Pearl Harbor, the custom house people and the United States marshal's office with a view of securing some sort of sanction to use the harbor for the purpose.

The girls' boat club members are also asked to turn out today and tomorrow to help the good work along.

"I feel that we should do something," said Mr. Rosa last night. "The best way is to get together and see what we can do to celebrate."
