DUKE SOON TO DON KHAKI; IS NOW IN CLASS 1

Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaii's champion natator, will in all probability don Uncle Sam's khaki as soon as he returns from his present mainland swimming tour. By action of the district draft board on appeal from his original classification Duke was last night placed in Class 1-i. Under present conditions the whole of Class 1 has been exhausted on Hawaii, and it is a certainty that every man in Class 1 will be called to the colors.

Duke was originally placed in Class 3, claiming exemption on the ground he was necessary to the support of his family.

The district board appealed the classification recently on the ground that the Kahanamoku family with Duke's army allotment and other contributory support will be provided for without Duke's assistance.
