This Afternoon's Games

2:30 o'clock, National Guard Armory
—Signal Corps vs. First Hawaiian, and Department Hospital vs. All-Stars.

There was quite a good-sized crowd present last night to witness the initial indoor basketball double-header of the Oahu-Service Athletic League in the National Guard armory.

While the Coast Defense piled up a tremendously big score, beating the College of Hawaii team, 74-8, the collegians put up a good game. Lieutenant Wells and his combination proved altogether too strong for the younger lads.

The second was a whale of a game and up until the opening of the fourth quarter there was really no telling which way victory would go. In this battle, which was as pretty a one to witness as has been staged here, the Marines finally defeated the Outrigger Canoe Club, 36-28.

There will be another double-header this afternoon at the same place. The first game, beginning at 2:30 o'clock, will be between the Signal Corps, who in the contest to follow this the Department Hospital will go up against an All-Star team. A big crowd is expected on hand.
