

SWIMMING MEET LOOMS UP WELL

"Dad" Center, Chairman, Calls Gatherings of Representa- tives At "Y" For Today

Prospects of a big swimming meet in the harbor on May 30-31 have already aroused considerable interest in Honolulu aquatic circles. Swimmers who are members of the various clubs are taking their dips in the surf with renewed interest, although no rigid training rules have been laid down yet by their trainers.

"Dad" Center, captain of athletics and swimming trainer of the Outrigger Canoe Club, says that he is not yet pressing his mermen and mermaids very hard, but is interested in seeing how they are coming out of their own accord and that the number of aspirants for honors is growing larger every day at the big beach club.

The Outrigger captain is chairman of the committee in charge of the meet and has already gained the hearty support of the leaders of all the swimming clubs of the city.

Meeting at Noon Today

A special meeting of all the representatives of the various clubs and of the army and navy posts and stations will be held at noon today in Cooke Hall, Central Y. M. C. A., to arrange the program of events for the forthcoming meet.

Officers in charge of athletics in the various posts have been notified and the fans will no doubt see teams representing Fort Ruger, Fort De Russy, Fort Shafter, Fort Kamehameha, Fort Armstrong, Sixth Aero Squadron of Ford Island and Marine Corps of Pearl Harbor competing for honors.

The swimming tanks of Palama and Central "Y" have become very popular since the first announcement of the coming meet was made in The Advertiser a few days ago. Further plans for the meet will be made following the meeting this noon.
