

OUTRIGGER CLUB TO PUT TEAM ON LOCAL GRIDIRON

Former College and School Stars Will Wear Colors of Beach Club In Senior League

The Outrigger Canoe Club is going in for football this year and at last night's meeting of the organization Bill Inman was appointed to take charge of the men who will form the eleven, while at the same time the club voted an appropriation of $500 for expenses.

This club will take the place of what has been generally known as the Town Team in senior gridiron circles. Coach, team captain and other officials will be appointed shortly and actual practice is expected to begin in about two weeks' time.

"We expect, even if this is the first year the Outriggers go in for football, to put in a team that will be second to none," Bill Inman said last night. "We have lined up some of the best civilian material in the city and will number the leading veterans and stars of the gridiron in our eleven. As a matter of fact, we may eventually put in two teams, should there be a senior and junior arrangement, as has been proposed."

Former College of Hawaii, Punahou, McKinley, St. Louis and Honolulu Military Academy players constitute the bulk of the material of the Outrigger team and those familiar with the work of these men in the past few years will agree that the Waikiki beach eleven will be a formidable machine.

Among the men who have joined the football club of the Outrigger Canoe Club are: G. McInerny and L. F. Stephens, ends; P. O'Sullivan, H. McInerny, Claude King and Gilbert Brown, guards; Bill Paty, Bill Inman, Herman von Holt and Mortimer Lydgate (this year's captain of Punahou eleven), tackles; F. ("Piper") Rodrigues, Allan McGuire and Tom Singlehurst, ends; Gus Ballentyne and Bob Mahikoa, quarterbacks; G. M. Canario, George Bromley, Jimmy Hart, Harold Harvey, Donald Brown, Ezra Crane, and Tom Cockett, backfield.

It is understood that the Phoenix Club is also out to organize a team. This will give the city two civilian elevens. With at least four service teams, Coast Artillery, Marines, Cavalry, and Signal Corps-Engineers, sure to join, the coming senior football season should prove as exciting and successful as that of last year, if not better.
