The Outrigger Canoe club eleven and the Schofield Giants will clash tomorrow for the first time of the season at Schofield. A big crowd of local fans is expected on hand for the match.

Today Bill Inman's beachcombers will ease up a bit as far as practise is concerned, after a strenuous week of preparation for the big game at Schofield tomorrow afternoon. The Outriggers have dug in this past week with all the energy and determination that was available in each individual in order to be in the pink of condition for the battle with the Schofield Giants. The Canoe men are out for a victory over the post team. This game should be the tiptop event of the day and the fans who journey out to Schofield will in all probability get their money's worth.

Edge

The dope is that the Schofield bunch will have the edge on the Surf-riders and register a win, but there's many a slip, as the old adage goes, and the Outrigger club is out to prove it. The squad has improved 100 per cent since the game with the College of Hawaii two weeks ago, and although the Schofield team will outweigh the Waikiki aggregation man to man, Outrigger supporters are optimistic, and predict that the speed of the wearers of the red and white jerseys will make up for this difference and bring home the bacon for the beach club. However, Coach Inman has not permitted his men to get that sure thing idea into their heads, and become over confident, but has endeavored to drive more pep and fighting spirit into the men during their daily workouts at Makiki field. The boys realize that they will stack up against the best conditioned and heaviest men in the league today, and can be counted on to do their uttermost to be on the long end of the score at the expiration of the fourth quarter.

Coach Thacker of the post team, after their defeat by the miniature College of Hawaii team last week, has been hard at work with his squad this past week remedying the defects of the team, and putting them through some intense workouts. He realizes that the Outrigger club will be out to win this game, and is taking no chances of not having his outfit in victory form. Schofield has in Quarterback Houston one of the best open field ground gainers in the league today, and he is being banked on by Schofield to pull off some spectacular stunts Saturday. Grimes, the big half-back of the post team, is another who can be considered a consistent ground gainer, and is expected to show to a good advantage in the next game.

One of the features of the day will be the distribution of the souvenir football program, which was originated by H. W. Page, manager of the Schofield eleven. This souvenir program is in the shape of a football, and contains various ads from the leading commercial houses of Honolulu, together with photographs of both the Schofield and Outrigger club elevens, coaches, managers and captains, along with the lineup of both teams, with the players' names and numbers just as they will appear on the field. On the last page is the score sheet, with the names of those who will officiate at the bottom of the page. This is the first time that a football souvenir program has been issued at games down here, and great credit must be extended to Mr. Page for the output of this pamphlet. Fifteen hundred of these nifty programs will be distributed free of charge at the game tomorrow afternoon at Schofield, and football fans who happen to receive one will be well satisfied with both the appearance and contents.

The football fan may get through the season with a couple of shock absorbers but he'll never look the same.
