

Tennis Rackets No Longer Will Be Overlooked

Tennis fiends of the Islands who have heretofore had difficulty in getting prompt and efficient repairs to their tennis rackets, when broken, will be pleased to learn that M. F. Colterjohn is now with the Honolulu Sporting Goods Company as expert on the implements of the great court game.

Colterjohn is well known along the Pacific Coast as an expert stringer of rackets. He was at one time with the Bundy-McLoughlin concern in Los Angeles, where he did special stringing for the big stars of the tennis world, and later he was connected with Wright and Ditson's establishment in San Francisco. He makes a specialty of this line of work and is an acknowledged expert in his line.

He plays a rather snappy game on the court himself and is in addition an all-round athlete, being an efficient baseball, football and golf performer. It is expected that he will soon appear in the lineup of the Waikikis on the diamond and later in the lineup of the Outrigger Club for football.
