

MISS WEHSELAU FETED BY CLUB

Watch Presented To Young Woman Who Won High Honors At Olympics

Members of the Outrigger club, constituting one of the largest groups that has been brought together by the organization, paid high honors Saturday night to Mariechen Wehselau for her achievements as a member of the American swimming team at the Olympic games.

Miss Wehselau was presented with a wrist watch, properly inscribed, as a token of the club's appreciation of her work. She won second place in the 100 meters free style for women.

The presentation was made by George "Dad" Center, captain of the Outrigger club, after the fourth dance. All members of Hawaii's swimming team were lined up on the floor of the pavilion, where the dance was held and each was presented with a black and gold lei by Miss Helen Ellis. David Lloyd Conklin, city and county treasurer, who had charge of the team on its trip, was present with them Saturday night.

As each member of the team was introduced by William Ouderkirk, treasurer of the club, he was greeted with cheers. Presentation of the wrist watch to Miss Wehselau then followed. She was also given a life membership in the club.
