

Outrigger Slammers Are Beaten

Score 15-10, 15-8; Vagabonds Trim Police By 15-11, 15-8 Count

ALTHOUGH they put up a great fight, the slammers representing the Outrigger Canoe Club could not match the smooth team work and offensive game of the Pearl Harbor Civilians last night, as they lost a 15-10, 15-8 match in the ASUH Volleyball league at the University gymnasium.

In the other match, the Vagabonds whipped a vastly improved Police Department aggregation, 15-11, 15-8.

Outrigger was playing without "Brains" Janda in the lineup, but Cheswick, Parker, and Beckert played brilliantly to keep the surfers in the running until the very last moment of each set, when the Pearl Harborites staged vigorous rallies to emerge the victor.

PEARL HARBOR STARS

Braun, Loughmiller and Cahill were once again the backbone of the Pearl Harbor team.

To defeat the rejuvenated Police team, the Vagabonds had to be at their best.

W. Harris Combs and Nobriga stood out for the winners, with Sam Harris and Earl Kraft being equally brilliant with their great slamming.

For the Police, Moses Pung was the best player. It was his accurate feeding that enabled the Police to score again and again and give the Vagabonds a bitter fight.
