WITH an inspiring comeback, the University of Hawaii slammers last night defeated the Apollos in an ASUH Volleyball league match at the University gymnasium. The score was 1-15, 15-6, 15-13.

In the other game, the Pearl Harbor Civilians continued to dog the Matsons, defeating the Aieas, 15-5, 15-8 to remain one game behind the pace setting Shippers.

Despite the fact that they were beaten in straight sets, the Aieas played a fine game against the powerful Civilian aggregation. Sam Toomey's sugarites are the most improved club in the league and they are a threat against any team.

STARS OF GAME

While Red Keone led the Aiea team, Braun and Loughmiller stood out for the Pearl Harborites.

For a while it seemed as though the University would be overwhelmed by the Apollos. They proved easy victims in the first set which they lost when they were able to annex only one point.

But they made a spectacular comeback and the rally which was featured by the great blocking of Ben Eleniki and the brilliant slamming of Adolph Desha and Chun carried them to a well-earned victory.

Outclassing their favored opponents, the collegians took the second set, 15-6.

The third and deciding set was a nip and tuck affair. There were many sideouts, as the two teams battled grimly for the advantage. But the University finally got the better of
