

Great Races Are Expected In Pun Tank

Diving, First Event On Program, Starts At 7 o'Clock

DUKE IN EXHIBITION

To Swim 50 Yards For
Time; Race Order
Revealed

IN SPLENDID condition as a result of weeks of hard training, the greatest of local swimmers will vie for honors tonight in the first annual Duke Kahanamoku Indoor swimming meet in the Punahou Academy tank, starting at 7 o'clock.

Twenty events are scheduled to be staged and included will be a special 50-yard swim by Duke Kahanamoku himself.

Kahanamoku, former champion of the world and a representative of the United States in the Olympic Games, will swim for time. Despite the fact that he is far past 40 years of age, the Duke still retains his swimming form and he should turn in a fast time.

TO HAVE COMPETITION

Gay Harris and Sam Kahanamoku, also former members of the U. S. Olympic team from Hawaii, will swim with the Duke in the special event. According to an announcement yesterday, Harris and Sam Kahanamoku will start first and the Duke will attempt to overtake them.

The meet will be made as colorful as possible. There will be decorations and plenty of music. The Royal Hawaiian Band will play, in addition to the Police Glee club. The Citywide hula champion will also dance a few numbers.

The Kamaaina Beachcombers' Hui and the Associated Students of the University of Hawaii are jointly sponsoring the meet and judging by the advance sale of tickets one of the largest crowds to take in a swimming meet in recent years will attend. Many good seats are still available.

HARD-FOUGHT RACES

In the time trials Tuesday night, fast times were chalked up and there was only a slight difference in the times of the various qualifiers. All

(Continued on Page 9)