

Dad Center Names Athletic Committee At Outrigger

DAD CENTER, captain of the Outrigger Canoe club, at a meeting held last night, appointed an athletic committee to formulate a program of activities for the coming year. Those selected to serve on the committee are George Bates, Curton Leser, Tommy Kiakona and Edgar Nash.

During the Christmas vacation the club will have a sailing canoe ready for junior members. Classes will be formed to instruct the junior members in canoeing and surfboarding. All junior members who care to join these classes are requested to register with Opp Haehnlen, manager of the club. Tommy Kiakona, champion surfboard paddler, will have charge of the classes.

A volleyball tournament has already been arranged to start on January 9. Eight teams will comprise the league and all members are asked to get down for practice each evening at 4:30. Floodlights have been erected on the grounds to illuminate the volleyball courts.

After the six-man volleyball tournament, there will be a doubles and a single tournament. Medals will go to the winners.
